Government Technology Innovation Hub proposal: Business model and economic impact assessment report almost complete

ITAC is continuing to work on the Government Technology Innovation Hub proposal to establish a global centre of excellence for digital government and transformation that:

- Facilitates national government, industry and academia collaboration on key digital challenges;
- Leverages some of Canada's greatest innovation resources and organizations and puts these capabilities to work in govtech; and
- Helps to address key gaps within existing government programs, and builds a more robust pipeline for complementary public sector programs

ITAC is working with Bayview PWC, KMPG and Deloitte to finalize a business model and economic impact assessments. Once complete, ITAC and its partners and our members will be invited to engage at the federal level in Quebec and Ontario to seek funding.

More details about this initiative will be shared with all ITAC members through a presentation by Andre Leduc, Vice President, Government Relations and Policy, ITAC in late March.
